Summary

This dashboard summarises the views of Sudanese refugees, on the situation and protection risks in Chad. The perceptions of these households, interviewed either at the entry points or at the transit sites, a few days after their arrival in Chad, reflect the trauma of fleeing and the relief of having crossed the border.

From 1 to 31 July 2024, 2,469 households of 9,905 new arrivals were interviewed, 228 of them at the Tiné transit centre and 2,241 at the Adré, Tiné and Adé entry points in the provinces of Ouaddai, Wadi-Fira and Sila respectively. A total of 12,481 new arrivals were registered by the CRT and CNARR.
The main trends to be highlighted from the interviews are as follows:

Access to the asylum country

- 54% of households surveyed claimed that the lack of livelihoods and food was the reason for their displacement, while 35% mentioned insecurity .
- 45% said they had been victims of human rights violations, including 18% illegal taxes, 16% extortion of property and 9% physical assault, during their flight to Chad.
- 62% of the households surveyed said that members of their family were still in Sudan. They gave reasons relating to the lack of means of transportation (15%), fear of forced recruitment (10%) and fear of arbitrary arrest (6%).

Education

- 91% of households indicated that their children dropped out of school due to the crisis.
- 96% of households have children of school age.

Child protection *

- 50% of households fear that their children will have the opportunity to attend school
- 38% of households mentioned the risk of malnutrition
- 5% of households said that children are exposed to forced labor and exploitation

Documentation

- 51% have birth certificates and 12% have identity cards or other types of documents
- 37% of households without any documents claim that the documents were lost/burnt (99%) or confiscated in the country of origin (1%).

Gender-based violence *

- People seek assistance from family members (50%), friends (40%) and neighbors (10%).

Community engagement *

- Regarding information about assistance, 47% of households seek help from site managers, 31% from neighbors and 22% from humanitarian organizations (NGOs/UN).
- Modalities of access to services (40%), news about the country of origin (26%) and services available (19%) are the types of information preferred by the households surveyed.
