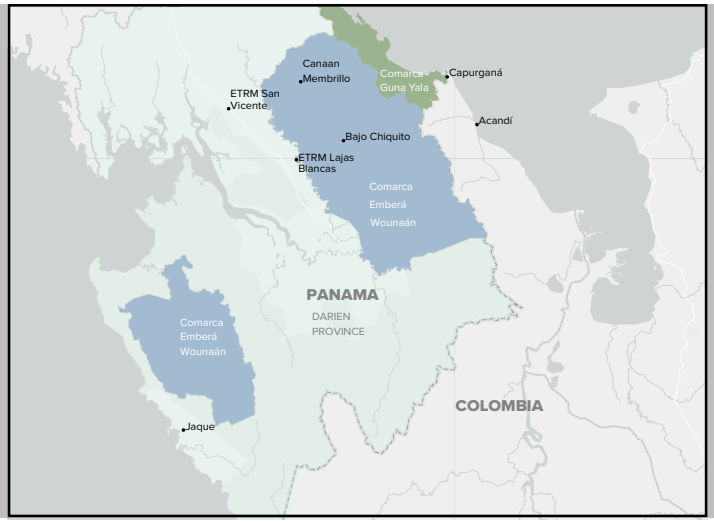
Mixed Movements Official Data

Darien Province, Panama-Colombia Border

July 2023

Context

Darien is Panama's largest and poorest province. Bordering Colombia, the province hosts a 60-mile-deep jungle, the only breaking point of the Pan-American highway, linking the continent from south to north. Despite being one of the most dangerous jungles in the world, Darien is a transit location for thousands of refugees and migrants, most of them coming from Haiti, Venezuela, Cuba, and African and South Asian nations. According to official statistics of the National Migration Service (SNM), from 2010 to 2020, some 120,000 people crossed through this area. Panama has been facing an unprecedented mixed movement crisis in the last two years, with nearly 400,000 people making this perilous journey through the jungle. In 2022, a total of 248,284 people entered the country irregularly through Darien.



Key Figures

196,371 Total entries in 2023.

29,722 Total entries in June 2023.

65% Men

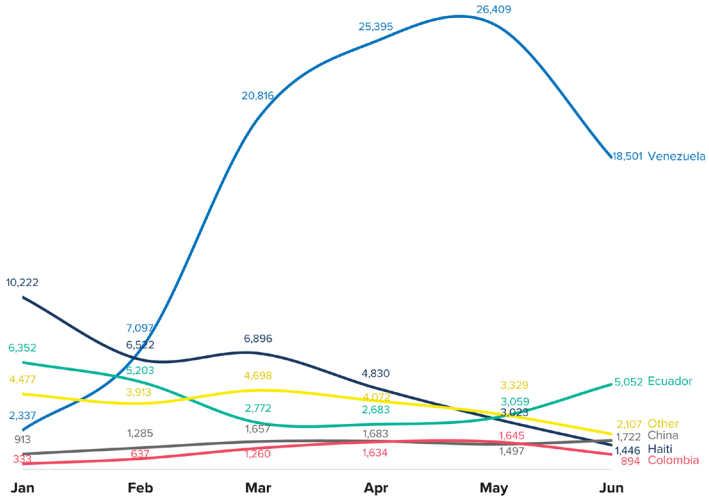
35% Women

80% Adult

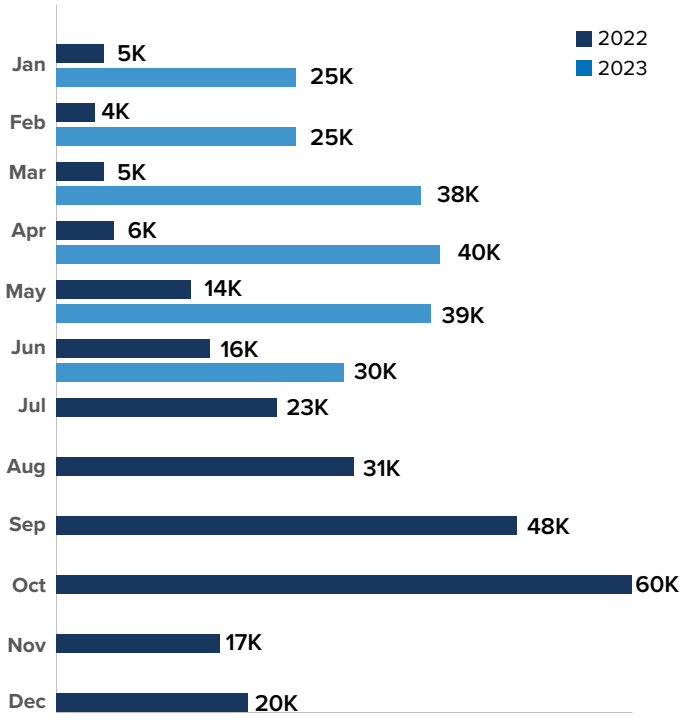
20% Children

Source: Panama National Migration Service

Main Nationalities entering irregularly through Darien from January to July 2023

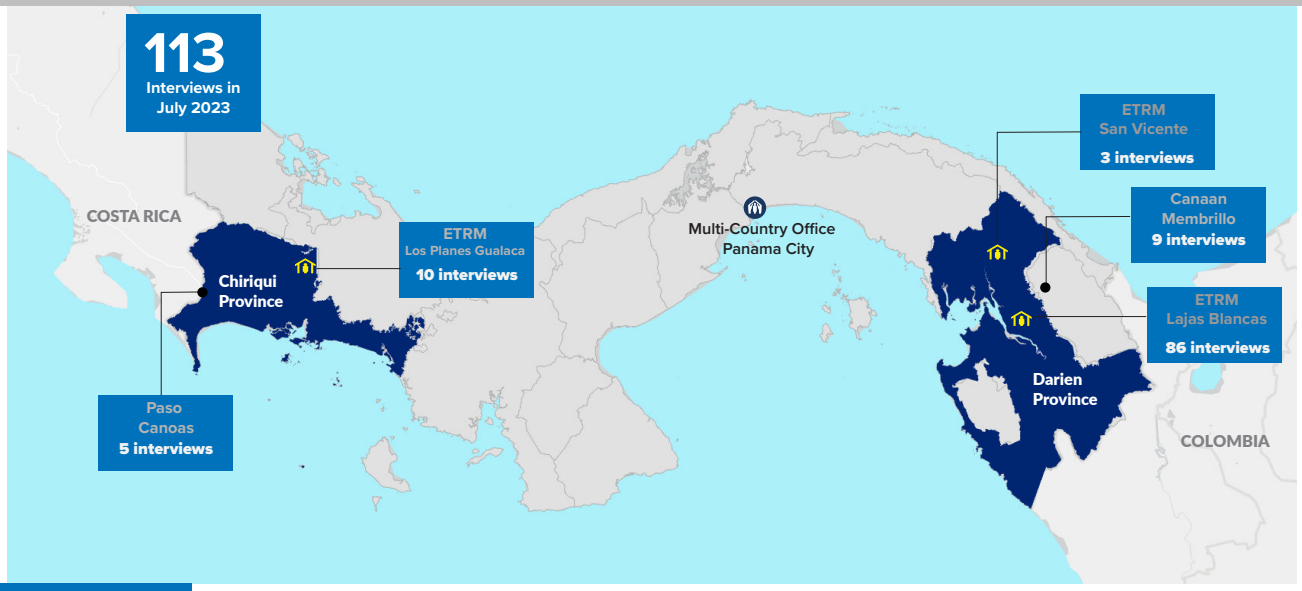


Irregular entries through Darien 2022-2023 (in thousands of people)



UNHCR Data Collection

UNHCR, the UN Refugee Agency, collects monthly information on the characteristics, vulnerabilities, and protection needs of refugees and migrants who enter Panama through the province of Darien at the southern border with Colombia. The information is compiled through individual interviews conducted in Panama's Darien and Chiriquí provinces. The preliminary results presented here are indicative only. They should not be interpreted as representative of the total population of refugees and migrants crossing the border through the Darien jungle.



Demography

Sex of interviewed individuals

50% Men

50% Women

Average age

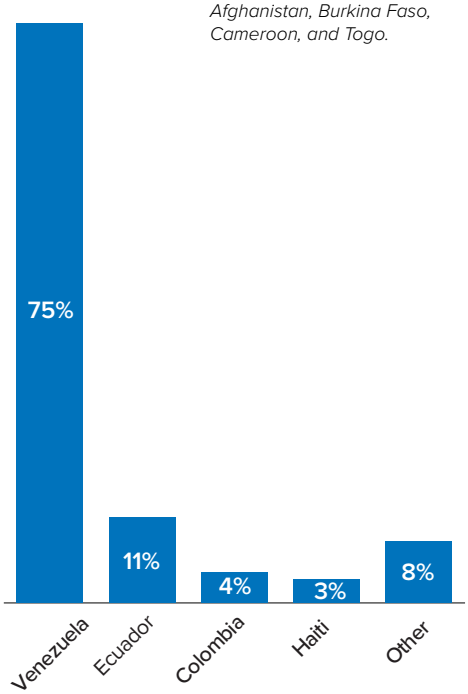
31 Years

Travel group composition

56% Entire family
8% Friends
1% Unrelated companions
21% Part of the family
16% Alone

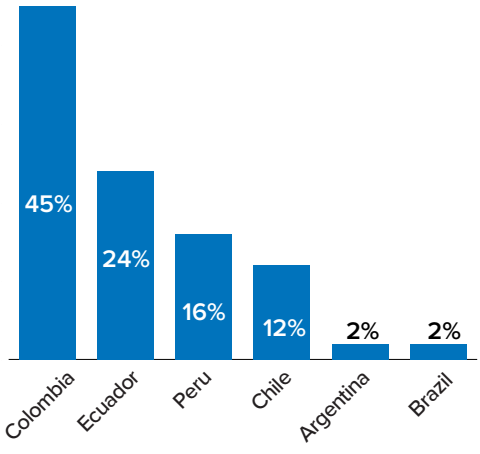
Nationality of interviewed individuals

Other nationalities include: Afghanistan, Burkina Faso, Cameroon, and Togo.

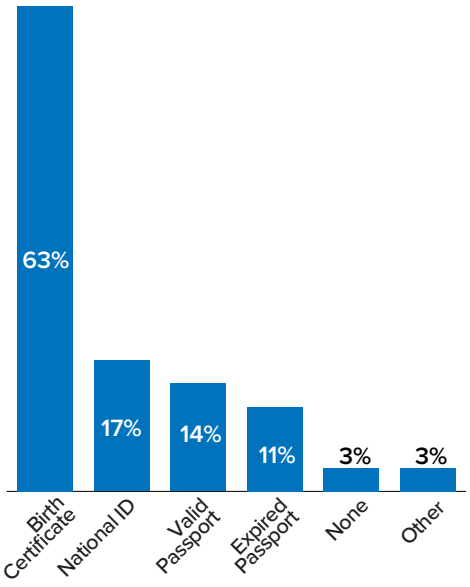


Country of residence in the last year

55% of interviewed individuals reported living in a country other than their country of origin at least 6 months.



Documents carried by the family



Respondent profile

Three quarters of interviewed refugees and migrants were from Venezuela (75%). Nearly half of interviewed Venezuelans (45%) were coming directly from Venezuela, followed by the countries in which they reported residing in the last six months, mainly: Colombia (27%), Ecuador (14%), and Peru (9%). A very small proportion (2%) reported still having current documentation from this country of residence.

77% of respondents reported travelling with family, and they were accompanied by an average of three adult family members, and two children. Furthermore, 42% of respondents reported travelling with at least one child under five.

Compared to the previous month, the average reported time for crossing the jungle was lower in July (4 days).
In addition to the worsening terrain conditions in the jungle, one-third of interviewed individuals in July reported experiencing theft, scams or fraud in their journey.

78%

of interviewed individuals left their country of origin/residence less than four weeks ago.

1%

of interviewed individuals reported having the intention to stay in Panama.

Most of them are planning to stay less than a month.

12%

of interviewed individuals had applied for legal status in another country, prior to their arrival to Panama.

1 in 10

of interviewed individuals reported traveling with a survivor of violence in their group (sexual, physical or psychological).

3%

of interviewed individuals reported traveling with pregnant or lactating women.

1%

of respondents reported traveling with someone with a critical or chronic medical condition.

2%

of interviewed individuals reported traveling with unaccompanied children in their group.

3%

of interviewed individuals reported having a single parent traveling with children in their group.

1%

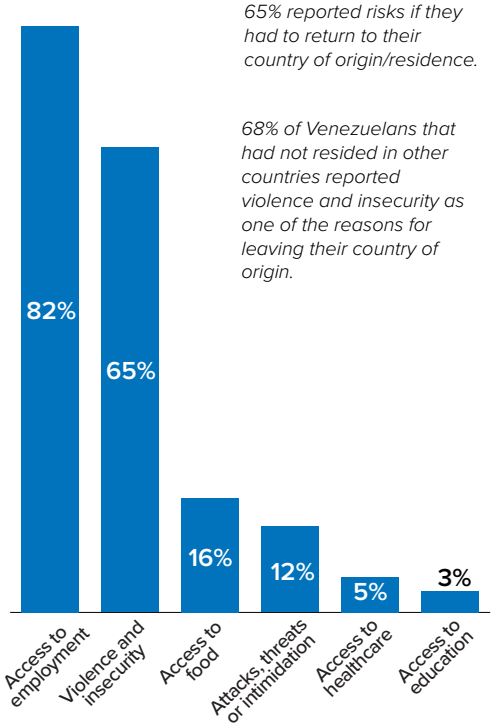
of interviewed individuals reported traveling with an elder in their group.

Push and pull factors

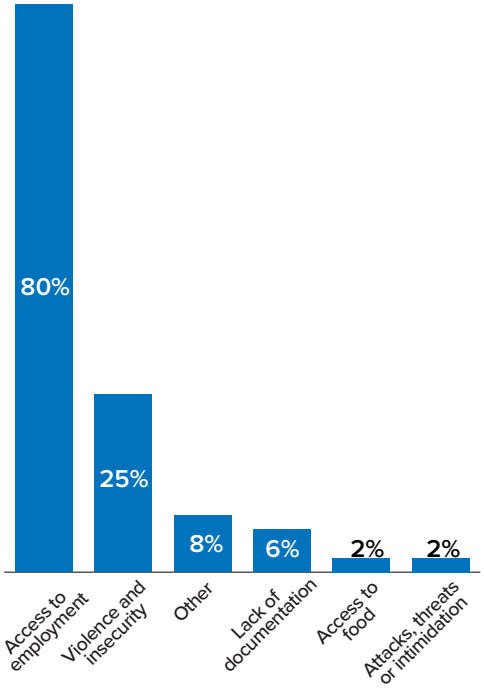
Main reasons for leaving country of origin

65% reported risks if they had to return to their country of origin/residence.

68% of Venezuelans that had not resided in other countries reported violence and insecurity as one of the reasons for leaving their country of origin.

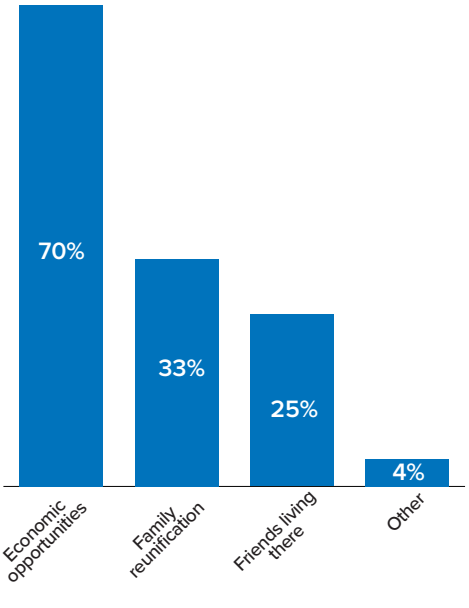


Main reasons for leaving country of residence



Reasons for choosing destination country

Most common reasons reported under "Other" includes seeking Protection.



96%

of interviewed individuals reported the United States as their final destination.

Followed by Canada (2%), Costa Rica (1%), and Mexico (1%).

6 in 10

interviewed reported receiving information about the journey and making decisions based on the information received from friends and relatives who had already made it.

Also received information through social networks, mainly Facebook (24%), TikTok (27%) and Youtube (3%).

3 in 4

interviewed individuals reported that if they were unable to reach their country of destination, they would wait until allowed to proceed to said country.

Challenges during the journey

4 days

is the average time interviewed individuals crossed the Darien jungle. (Min. 2 days and Max. 9 days).

1 in 3

experienced mistreatment or abuse during the journey through the jungle.

30%

of interviewed individuals reported being victims of theft, scam or fraud during their journey through the jungle. Additionally, 5% reported being victim of threats, intimidation, and attacks.

88%

of interviewed individuals paid a person to guide them through the jungle.

Main reported needs for the continuation of the journey

During data collection, cash for the bus fare was reported as one of the primary unmet needs, especially among families traveling with children.*

Situations that affected people the most while crossing the jungle

Those who reported seeing cadavers, reported seeing between 2 and 20 cadavers during the seven days prior to data collection.*

UNHCR Multi Country Office for Belize, Cuba, Panama, Nicaragua and Southern Caribbean
Data Sources: UNHCR Protection Monitoring, conducted on the 3rd to 12th July 2023
Access all our border protection monitoring publications here
Feedback: panpaim@unhcr.org

UNHCR ACNUR
La Agencia de la ONU para los Refugiados