Türkiye-Syria Earthquakes Day 7 Devastation Continues: More than 34,000 Dead in the "Disaster of the Century"

International Blue Crescent Foundation Relief and Development Foundation would like to extend our sincere condolences to all those affected by the earthquakes this week. IBC employees in the region are safe and accounted for, though some have lost family members and loved ones and saw their entire homes destroyed. Thank you to all who are mobilizing and to the heroic search and rescue teams on the ground. Immense and continued cooperation is needed to prevent further loss of life and suffering.

Day 7 Developments

At least 34,179 people are reported dead just seven days after 7.8- and 7.5-magnitude earthquakes hit southern Türkiye and northern Syria hours and kilometers apart. According to Türkiye's Health, Emergency and Coordination Center (SAKOM) 29,605 people lost their lives in Türkiye, while Salvation Government authority of Syria confirmed 4,574 dead, including 3,160 in the Northwest.

On day seven of the earthquakes' aftermath, search and rescue personnel from over 100 countries have started to depart or shift their efforts, as few survivors remain. Teams and local governance have announced the cease of search and rescue in Kilis, Sanliurfa, Gaziantep, and in Northwest Syria. According to the Ministry of Interior Disaster and Emergency Management Presidency AFAD, at least 80,000 people survived with injuries and 148,000 disaster victims have been evacuated from the 10-zone region under state of emergency to other provinces including Adiyaman, Kilis, Osmaniye, Malatya, Adana, Sanliurfa, Diyarbakir and the three most affected provinces by death, Hatay, Kahramanmaras, and Gaziantep. UN officials say the death toll numbers are likely to double in the coming days and many survivors in the region are still terrified from constant seismic movement after enduring 2,103 aftershocks in the past week, dozens of which were over 4-magnitude on the Richter scale.

Freezing cold winter weather, lack of access to shelter and necessary and life-saving items have further complicated relief efforts. Although thousands have been evacuated and local stakeholders do their best to provide for everyone, it is still not enough to fill all the gaps, and more support and coordination is needed to especially reach the most vulnerable. There are small improvements to transportation and infrastructure day by day but still, there are bottlenecks traveling from city to city and especially access is limited to reach more rural areas. The Government of Türkiye has ramped up efforts to reach vulnerable rural areas with the help of 29 helicopters in addition to a giant hospital ship, providing health services to 421 people so far. Further, there have been some reported security concerns such as looting in some areas especially Antakya district of Hatay and Justice Minister Bekir Bozdag said on Sunday that 57 people had been arrested for looting. In response, the Government of Türkiye announced that over 131,000 security-related personnel had been deployed to the 10-city zone including 70,000 police officers, 60,000 gendarmerie officers and 1,000 coast guards. Many aid workers on the ground including IBC staff reported some minor looting but they did not experience the security threats which had been making the news headlines and some attributed the situation to complete darkness without electricity at night.

In relief efforts, more attention is being put toward the hard-hit provinces of Hatay, Karahmanmaras, Adiyaman, and Malatya. Over 6,500 buildings have collapsed in Türkiye, leaving hundreds of thousands homeless in the freezing cold; shelters and evacuations are not enough yet and the situation is dire for those still left on the street. Some airports and infrastructure has been fixed including Hatay, providing better access to personnel, medical teams, and volunteers but some 13.5 million affected people in Türkiye may still need support.

Hundreds of families have been sheltering at IBC Kilis Community Center since the earthquakes struck

Likewise in war-torn Northwest Syria the UN says up to 5.3 million people are homeless and nearly 900,000 people are in urgent need of hot food in both Türkiye and Syria. The Türkiye earthquakes hit the hardest in 5 governorates in Syria including Idleb, Aleppo, Hama, Latakia, and Tartus. According to the UN, over 115 schools have been destroyed and hundreds more damaged in Syria. On day seven of relief efforts, the World Health Organization announced they were in talks with the President of Syria to urgently advocate for more access to the most hard-hit areas since the regular UN-route was badly damaged in the quakes. Authorization is needed from Damascus in order to move forward in their discussions and WHO Director-General is hopeful however the UN has acknowledged today that aid is not getting to the people of Syria fast enough. Just 5% of the impacted sites and towns in opposition-controlled areas of Northwest Syria are being covered by search-and-rescue operations, according to the UN. Due to the damaged crossing, access was delayed in providing cross-border aid in the first days of the emergency. In addition, more than 30,000 displacement movements were recorded in the area during the week after the collapse of a dam caused flooding and further destruction of homes. Ninety percent of the population in Northwest Syria already depended on humanitarian assistance. Save the Children warns that "the future of an estimated 7 million children affected in Syria and Türkiye hangs in the balance."

IBC in the Field

IBC Team assesses structural damage in A'zaz/Northwest Syria

International Blue Crescent Relief and Development Foundation (IBC), with its already established locations in Kilis, Gaziantep, Hatay, Sanliurfa, A'zaz and Afrin, has utilized IBC Kilis Community Center since the first hours of the first earthquake last Monday, February 6th. Over 1,000 community members gather daily at the Center providing hot food, soup, shelter, and emergency items, many staying overnight. As IBC had already been implementing humanitarian and development programs before the earthquakes, since the first days IBC leadership has been meeting with representatives of AFAD, local municipalities, governorships, and local stakeholders to assess the situation and coordinate an effective and timely life-saving response, agreeing on plans and joint implementation.

Over the past week, IBC has developed and begun implementing many relief efforts with the support of generous donors. So far IBC has established operations from the main hub Kilis Community Center as well as hot meals of 6,000 meals 3x per day at distribution points Cumhuriyet Square and Erdogan Meydani under agreement with Turkish Red Crescent, AFAD, and partner MSF. IBC is also providing food and basic needs distribution support to the 9,000-person capacity shelter at Sanliurfa exhibition center. Over the past few days, basic needs, winter items, baby care items, and thousands of blankets have been distributed in Antakya/Hatay, Elibstan/Maras, and Islayihe/Gaziantep where IBC visited and started to set up community shelters with kitchen and continue doing distributions with support of partners. IBC will also implement a mobile component in these areas to reach nearby villages and are planning to visit Adiyaman and Sanliurfa Suruc district in the coming days for further assessment.

IBC field staff reports that to meet the high need, most organizations in the field are providing tents and containers and apart from AFAD, Ahbap initiative also set up a tent camp in Antakya/Hatay. Other organizations also provided food and hot meals in the areas visited and some also established toilets to support much needed water, sanitation, and hygiene activities. Today IBC staff met with the Elibstan/Karahmanmaras district governor, and he specifically requested drinking water and toilets. Further, it was noted that general needs on the ground throughout IBC's multi-city needs assessment have shifted a little. While many organizations are providing food/hot meals, more focus should be put on canned foods and other non-perishable food items. Hygiene packages, sanitary toilets, shower cabins, soap and dry shampoo, materials for mouth cleansing such as toothbrush and toothpaste or mouthwash are also essential needs and finally, underwear for all ages especially children is urgently needed. Shelter provision has been scaled up quite a bit but still, fatal gaps persist. Finally, winter items are crucial to distribute as soon as possible including tent or prefabricated units, baby care kits, thermal clothes, blankets, generators, and fuel. Thousands of people are still homeless in the freezing cold conditions even among evacuations. The 10-city zone was home to around 15 million people before, including 1.7 million Syrians living under temporary protection.

Complete destruction in the city of Antakya/Hatay

In Hatay, IBC staff spoke with a man who lost his family including three children. The man explained that their apartment was re-constructed through urban transformation, and they had moved to their new apartment in the last week of December 2022. The building was nine floors, housing around 200 people. He said that although the building construction was completed 4 months ago and they had moved in just 2 months ago, the building completely collapsed in the earthquakes, leaving no survivors. The only reason he is alive is because on Sunday he had traveled to Germany, then the earthquakes followed hours later.

In all locations visited this week, IBC field staff saw that all stakeholders were operating in full force and coordination with a massive operation on the ground led by AFAD, UMKE (medical teams), Turkish Red Crescent, the Turkish Military, volunteers, NGOs, local municipalities and governorships. IBC team confirmed that soldiers are trying to support rescue teams and maintain control, everyone is trying to do their best and with over 20,000 security reinforcements on the ground 24/7, the security situation appears to be generally under control. It is also worth mentioning that transportation is still a bit chaotic as roads are still collapsing and there is heavy traffic on the highways continuously. Hatay airport has opened for flights, so improvements are expected in the coming days.

Community consultations in Northwest Syria

Setting up shelter tents in A'zaz

In Northwest Syria, today IBC Cross-Border Programs Manager Muhammed Assaf and team went to A'zaz/Aleppo to meet with the local AFAD coordinator as well as the head of the relief office in A'zaz council. The team discussed a kitchen project to provide hot meals to 1,000 earthquake survivors. A new camp was also proposed, which AFAD and the Council with a few organizations were in discussion about construction. After that, IBC team together with AFAD Coordinator and Head of A'zaz Council Relief Office made a site visit where about 100 families had been placed after the earthquakes and tents were in the process of being constructed. IBC agreed to cover the kitchen, food baskets, and blankets for this camp, in agreement with a local supplier equipped to provide 300 food baskets and 300 blankets for now. Following the site visit in A'zaz, IBC team returned to Kilis in the evening to meet with AFAD representatives for a crisis roundtable including the Governor's Assistant Mr. Ashraf, the Director of AFAD Mr. Ugur and the Head of the Turkish Red Crescent. IBC's work in Kilis and Northwest Syria was presented by the team with shared gratitude for the cooperation. After the presentation, IBC was asked to go to the city of Soran/Northwest Syria to evaluate the situation as the water tanks there were damaged by the earthquake and the people are in dire need of water. According to AFAD and TRC, the most damage done in the area was to water sources and it was emphasized that water transportation for every city is very difficult. Tomorrow IBC will go to Soran with an engineering team and the head of council to evaluate the losses and the cost of repairing the water tanks there or if it is necessary to build new water tanks. IBC team will continue to coordinate with local authorities and its active OCHA clusters on the ground to avoid duplication of services.

For the survivors, IBC is working tirelessly to provide food, water, shelter, warmth, and essential needs. Headquarters staff, in concert with global partners, are mobilizing flows of vitally important medical supplies, food, hygiene kits, and basic needs equipment to fulfill the needs of the earthquake victims. Personnel on the ground continue to operate crucial, lifesaving operations while plans to expand and intensify activities are finalized. For now, IBC Kilis Community Center continues to serve as a major hub for coordination and relief efforts, including for cross-border response into Syria.

As a result of the assessments undertaken by IBC field staff and partners so far, IBC has been taking the following actions:

Temporary Shelter in Kilis

Hot Soup and Meals Daily in Kilis

Urgent Needs in General:

- Tens of thousands of tents, shelter
- Heaters for the tents, fuel
- Basic first aid kits
- Hygiene and Sanitary Kits (for children and adults); Diapers
- Medicine and Medical Equipment
- Blankets & Winter Clothing
- Power banks
- Wheat for Bread Production
- Drinkable water, canned food
- Bedding
- Baby care kits

Even after one week, needs in the region are insurmountable. Medical and general evacuations continue to take place; shelter/tents, thermal clothing, heat, water, power supply, and medical aid are urgently needed. The damage done to roads and infrastructure has made many areas simply unlivable. As personnel on the ground are tasked with recovering the deceased and evaluating structural damage, the relief efforts to meet the hundreds of thousands of displaced residents must be scaled up immediately, especially for the most vulnerable women, children, elderly, persons with disabilities, and persons facing protection issues due to legal status in Türkiye. IBC will keep all partners and potential donors appraised of the current situation daily.

We ask our partners and international civil society members to help us in these tragic days so that together we may overcome the suffering of our people.
