Building Resilience

In September AO "Biaz Gul" conducted a series of mobile team meetings for refugees from Ukraine, implementing activities under the "Enhancing access to critical protection services, through boosting the humanitarian response role of Ukrainian and Moldovan local women-led organisations (WLOs)" project. Designed to provide comprehensive assistance, the sessions offered a safe space for women and families to access essential information on legal rights and protection against violence. Participants gained knowledge on accessing psychosocial support and building resilience against stress, while also receiving food packages and individual consultations to address specific needs. This initiative creates a supportive environment that promotes trust and awareness, helping refugees adapt to new living conditions with greater confidence. This activity is implemented with the support of HIAS Europe and financial assistance from GFFO. Learn more about this initiative here.

Fostering Cohesion

In July, Dorcas Moldova, in partnership with Biserica Emanuel Bălți, concluded the "Programul Integrativ Bălți", marking a project of transformation for both Ukrainian refugees and the local community. Designed to support social cohesion, the initiative provided personal development workshops, motivational sessions, and joint activities that brought together students, authorities, and residents. Participants gained confidence, while the broad collaboration created a sustainable framework for mutual support and understanding. The initiative has strengthened community connections, offering an example of civic engagement and shared responsibility. This activity is implemented with the support of EO Metterdaad. Summer of Unity

In August the Don Bosco Foundation concluded its summer recreational camp for children from refugee and hosting communities at Ciobanovka. Designed to foster inclusion and and offer quality time, this activity brought together 40 Moldovan and Ukrainian refugee children, offering a joyful environment where participants built cross-cultural friendships and enjoyed a sense of community. The sessions encouraged integration and mutual support, embodying the spirit of unity and opening new perspectives for the youth involved. The initiative, implemented with the support of Iugend Eine Welt, strengthened connections between local and refugee families through shared experiences. Supporting Parents

In May, Keystone Moldova organized a parental education workshop in Căușeni, designed to support refugee parents in understanding their children's needs and developing resilience. Bringing together displaced families, the initiative provided a supportive environment where parents could reflect on emotional challenges and explore the "self-care modelling" technique. The workshop encouraged authentic connection and empathy, empowering participants to set healthy limits and prioritise their well-being. The initiative also provided practical tools for parents to become examples of balance and compassion for their children. This activity is implemented with the support of the German Federal Foreign Office (AA) through Diakonie Katastrophenhilfe and APSCF. Learn more about this initiative here.

Solidarity in Action

In July, Gender-Centru continued implementing its "Safe Spaces" activities with mobile teams deployed to Nisporeni, Ungheni, Telenești, Orhei, and Dubăsari, designed to provide emotional support and vital information on protection to refugees and members of hosting communities. This initiative brought together women and girls, and provided them with a safe environment where participants could access empathy, knowledge, and essential resources. The sessions encouraged social cohesion and solidarity, embodying a spirit of trust and fostering a sense of belonging. The initiative has strengthened connections between host communities and displaced families through meaningful dialogue and mutual support. This activity is implemented with the support of UNFPA Moldova. Learn more about this initiative here.
