Risk Assessment and Mitigation in Cash-Based Interventions

February – 2022

What is Risk

Risk can be understood in relation between future harm, the probability of a harmful event or hazard occurring and the severity of the impact of that event or hazard.

Future Harm = Probability of harmful event X Severity of the impact

While Risk management refers to attempts to eliminate or mitigate the probability or impact of a harmful event or hazard.

Risk and humanitarian action

The risks prevalent in humanitarian action are many, varied and often interlinked. Many actors tend to highlight risks to the safety and security of staff and beneficiaries, but whilst these are indeed critical, there are many other risks which present serious threats to humanitarian programming. In the figure to the right risks are grouped into three categories: contextual, programmatic and institutional.

Risk and humanitarian action

Risk by Actor

Risk Identification and Management

Identifying risk means identifying any event or factor which may do harm to the objectives of the organization. The source of risk may be internal to an organization, for example the conduct of staff, or external, such as a natural hazard or an economic or political event.

Assessment of risk is commonly conducted based on both the probability of occurrence and the likely impact, with the most critical risks logically being those that are both highly probable and expected to have a significant impact.

Risk Identification and Management

Risk Analysis Template

| Risk Category | Potential impact | Impact (Severity) | Likelihood (probability) | Risk classification | Mitigation measures | Risk mitigation by |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Participation and Inclusion (Particularly Regarding Information Dissemination and Awareness) | | | | | | |
| Safe and Dignified Access (Particularly Regarding Delivery Mechanisms of CVA) | | | | | | |
| Confidentiality of Personal Data of Survivors and Persons at Risk | | | | | | |
| Social Norms and Partner, Household & Community Relations | | | | | | |

Risk Identification and Management

The measures through which it is possible to manage the risk may include any or a combination of four key strategies:

Avoidance: ceasing the activities that give rise to risk.
Reduction: taking action to reduce the probability or impact of risk.
Sharing or insuring: reducing risk through sharing or transferring part of the risk.
Acceptance: accepting risk based on a cost–benefit or cost-effectiveness analysis.
