Temporary Protection (TP)

Has been extended

until

1 March 2027

Application period:

1 February –
30 April 2026

The period for granting Temporary Protection (TP) has been extended until 1 March 2027.

What you need to extend your TP document:

Original Temporary Protection (TP) document

How to apply:

Submit an electronic application on:

protectietemporara.gov.md

Extension is NOT automatic

Application period: 1 February – 30 April 2026

Steps to follow:

1. Open the website protectietemporara.gov.md
2. Request the extension of temporary protection
3. Fill in the online form
4. For children who have turned 14, their legal representatives will be notified about biometric data collection:
   - Save the appointment information at the General Inspectorate for Migration (GIM)
   - Attend the GIM office on the scheduled day, accompanying the child and bringing all original identity documents

Important!

- ✓ The service is free of charge
- ✓ During the application period and while the application is being reviewed, all TP beneficiaries maintain their status
- ✓ The validity of your TP document can be checked by scanning the QR code on the document
- ✓ If you are not eligible for TP extension, you will be informed of the decision
- ✓ Missing the application deadline (1 February – 30 April 2026) will result in automatic termination of your TP status

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs)

1. What is new in the TP extension process?

- TP is no longer extended automatically; an application must be submitted
- Children who have turned 14 must undergo fingerprinting

2. Will I receive a new document?

- No, your existing TP document remains valid
- You do not need to visit the GIM offices

3.What happens if I miss the application period?

- If you fail to submit your application within the set period, you can apply for temporary protection again

---

Recommendation: Do not delay submitting your application – missing the deadline will result in termination of TP.
