

Context

Niger faces significant challenges due to regional instability stemming from neighboring countries such as Mali, Burkina Faso, and Nigeria, as well as armed group activities and cross-border crime in the Tillabéri, Maradi, Diffa, and Tahoua regions. Furthermore, an unfolding political crisis since the July 2023 coup d'état, coupled with crippling sanctions, has heightened protection risks for local populations. Additionally, climate-related shocks, exacerbated by poverty and weak social systems, further contribute to the fragile operational context in Niger.

Internally displaced people (IDP)

3,456

newly displaced since 21 Jan.

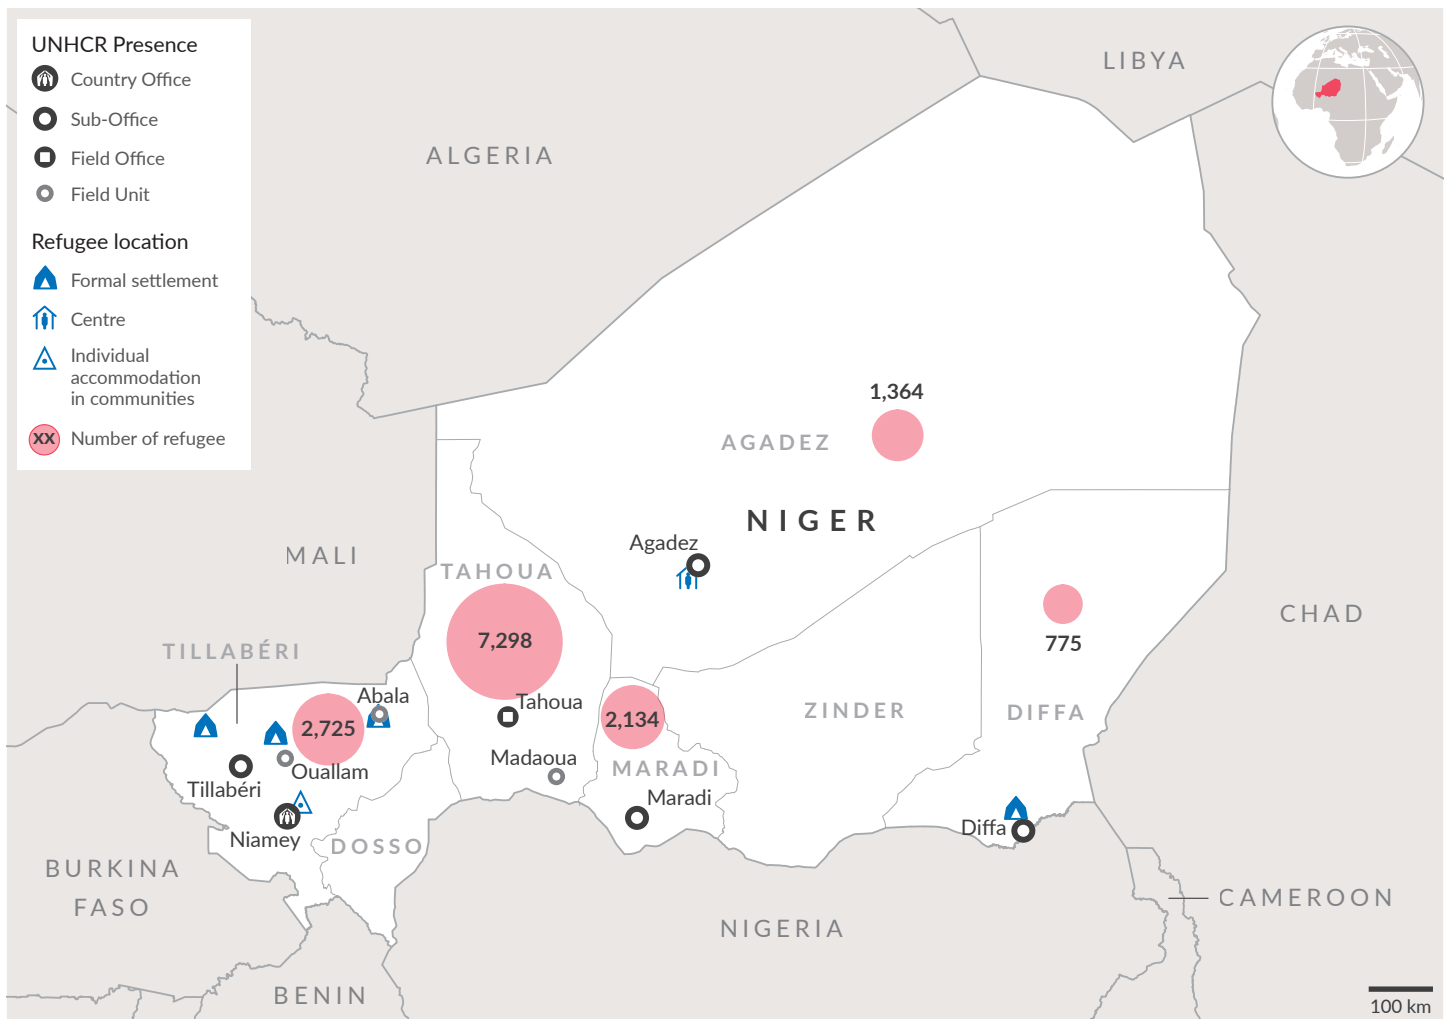

407,000

estimated total

Newly displaced IDPs by region

Newly arrived refugees by region

The boundaries and names shown and the designations used on this map do not imply official endorsement or acceptance by the United Nations.

* Despite new arrivals since 21 March, a recent verification reveals the total number of refugees and asylum seekers is slightly less than it was in March.

Refugees and asylum-seekers

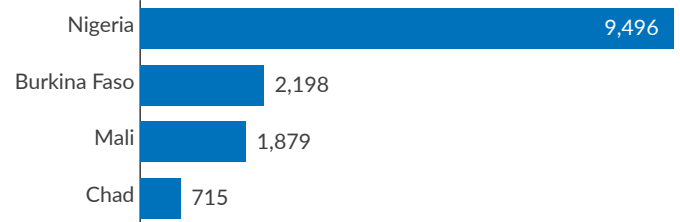

14,300

newly arrived since 21 Jan.

415,000*

estimated total

Newly arrived refugees by country of origin

Total newly arrived refugees (cumulative)

