

The situation in Afghanistan remains highly volatile. Over half a million of Afghans have been displaced in their country due to conflict and violence this year alone, amid what is now a humanitarian emergency of internal displacement. While Iran has not yet witnessed a major influx of refugees, UNHCR has seen an increase in the number of approaches by newly arrived Afghans in need of international protection. Most Afghans fleeing to Iran are doing so in an irregular manner through unofficial border crossings and with the help of smugglers, as official border points remain closed for entry to persons without valid passports and visas intending to seek asylum. The actual numbers of new arrivals to Iran are likely to be much higher than presented in this document – however, UNHCR currently lacks access to border areas and is only able to report on newly arrived persons of concern who have reached us through our hotlines and receptions. Therefore, UNHCR is not able to confidently confirm trends and figures. UNHCR has issued a non-return advisory for Afghanistan on 16 August, calling on governments to halt returns of Afghan nationals, including asylum-seekers who have had their claims rejected. UNHCR calls on countries to keep their borders open for Afghans seeking international protection, as well as for resettlement spaces to be allocated to Afghan refugees currently in Iran, with flexible criteria.

This is the official figure shared by the Government of Iran. The actual number of new arrivals is much higher, given that most Afghans are using informal routes to enter Iran. However, UNHCR lacks access to borders to verify. Most of these persons have now returned to Afghanistan, with UNHCR seeking clarity on the voluntary nature of these returns. There are 130 individuals still currently hosted by the Government in Alghadir, Sistan and Baluchistan province. An additional 88 individuals were being held in Sefid Sang, in Khorasan Razavi province, but UNHCR has been unable to obtain updates on whether they remain in Sefid Sang, in another site or have been sent back to Afghanistan.

MAP OF BORDER CROSSINGS AND PROVISIONAL SITES AS OF 2 OCT

While borders between Iran and Afghanistan were officially closed from 16 August, they are now open only for Afghan passport-holders with valid visas for Iran. The Government does not allow the entry of undocumented persons. UNHCR calls on countries to keep their borders open for Afghans fleeing the country. UNHCR and other actors are involved in discussions with BAFIA on developing potential sites in border areas that could host new arrivals for short periods of time.
