

KEY ACTIVITIES

Learning Centres

Rohingya children have access to informal education, supported by the humanitarian community through the Education Sector. UNHCR and its partners run 573 centre based Learning Centers and 1,235 Community-based Learning Facilities in 17 camps, reaching over 69,000 refugee children with early childhood development, pre-primary and primary education.

Introduction of the Myanmar Curriculum

In January 2020, the Government of Bangladesh approved the introduction of the Myanmar Curriculum. By the end of 2022, over 37,500 children (including more than 18,400 girls) had transitioned from the Learning Competency Framework and Approach to the Myanmar Curriculum. UNHCR together with the Education Sector will continue to scale-up the implementation of the Myanmar Curriculum in 2023.

Adolescent and Youth Programmes

Some refugee adolescents and youth have access to prevocational courses in functional numeracy, literacy, and life skills. Additionally, some adolescents and youth have been able to enroll in certified and professional courses through online platforms such as Coursera and EdX that host content from top universities from across the world.

Capacity Development Programmes for Teachers and Partners

School Supervisors and Technical Officers of partner organisations are enrolled as Master Trainers in the UNHCR-supported professional development programme that is conducted with Bard College and BRAC University. A total of 168 Master Trainers completed this six-month blended mentorship training. Over 2,500 teachers, from both the host community and the Rohingya community, participated in a two-month training on pedagogy.

Community Engagement:

UNHCR in collaboration with its partners formed 639 Community Education Support Groups (CESG) involving parents and members of the community. These groups support teachers to promote attendance as well as facilitate awareness sessions on education.
