WHO Romania Monthly Newsletter

July 2023 Highlights

• WHO Romania conducted a field trip to five counties in Romania, meeting with local authorities and county health partners to identify key gaps and challenges within the refugee health response.

• WHO Romania distributed 15,000 copies of the 'Vaccination Guide for Family Doctors' to county public health directorates, health insurance houses, medical universities and family medicine clinics across the nation.

• WHO Romania co-organized, in collaboration with MoH, the event “Best Practice Models for Hospitals - The Role of Local Authorities” in Bistrita, Romania.
WHO Romania County Field Trip

WHO Romania conducted a county field trip between 16-21 July, visiting Baia Mare, Brasov, Cluj, Sibiu, and Tg Mures:

1. Language still remains a significant barrier to healthcare access for Ukrainian refugees in Romania, with a few exceptions. Sibiu, for example, has a high number of medical providers from Moldova who speak Romanian and Russian and this has helped to address the language barrier between Ukrainians and Romanian health service providers.

2. Increasing numbers of refugees have reportedly been able to register with a family doctor, with approximately 80% of the resident refugee population in Cluj now registered. However, significant challenges remain related to administrative difficulties faced by family doctors, which resulted in many GPs being disincentivized to provide care to Ukrainians. The complicated process to register Ukrainians on the NHIIH platform and apply for reimbursement, combined with the risk of penalisation during the biannual audits if errors are found have resulted in many family doctors forgoing the process altogether.
WHO Romania staff meet Public Health Director Dr Moisescu Goia Mihai in Cluj-Napoca on 17 July 2023.

Distribution of Book 'Vaccination Guide for Family Doctors'

Following the successful Family Doctor Immunization Workshop conducted on 29 June 2023, WHO Romania has distributed 15,000 copies of the 'Vaccination Guide for Family Doctors' authored by AREPMF.

The book provides insights into updated guidelines regarding routine vaccination requirements in Romania.

1. 7,500 books to the College of Physicians, who will distribute to its members across the country.

2. 3,500 books to county Public Health Directorates and Health Insurance Houses across the main cities Baia Mare, Brasov, Cluj, Constanta, Galati, Sibiu, and Tg Mures.

3. 3,000 copies were distributed to the Chamber of Nurses.

4. 1,000 copies to 10 selected medical universities across Romania.

5. 500 copies to the National Roma Agency.
