The refugee population in the region has more than tripled since last winter. UNHCR and regional refugee response partners are coordinating the implementation of a far-reaching winterization programme to address the needs of the most vulnerable amongst those who have fled their homes due to the continuing conflict in Syria. More than 1.1 million refugees are targeted in the plan. Priority is given to those living in sub-standard shelters; in areas with severe climatic conditions; and the most vulnerable who may have the most difficulties to cover their accommodation, utility and heating or fuel costs.

In addition, UNHCR is implementing a USD 78.8 million plan benefitting up to 1.5 million internally displaced persons in Syria by providing winterized relief items, improving collective shelters and private houses, and distributing cash assistance to vulnerable families.

HIGHLIGHTS

- The distribution of winterization items among Syrian refugees in camps across Iraq is complete and distribution for refugees outside camps is underway.
- In Lebanon, 344,000 Syrian refugees (69,000 households) have received blankets, stoves and the winter fuel allowance.
- In Jordan, about 111,275 Syrian refugees in the 12 governorates have received supplementary winterization cash assistance.
- In Turkey, UNICEF has distributed 34,797 sets of jumpsuits to children under two. UNHCR's procurement of 240,000 high thermal blankets has arrived at Mersin Port and items will soon be released for distribution.

Weather conditions in the region are particularly rough during the winter, with peaks of sub-zero temperatures in many locations where refugees live, including northern Iraq, mountain areas in Lebanon, south of Turkey. Temperature differences between day and night can be significant, especially in the dryer inland areas, with nights surprisingly cool. Refugees living in camps and in improvised shelter are particularly vulnerable to these conditions.

Refugee response – UNHCR regional stockpile

UNHCR is closely monitoring stocks in various warehouses to ensure that items are available and delivered to refugees where needed. Overland transfer systems, through airlift or sea shipment, have been put in place to ensure that items reach the countries where needed. Thus far, the UNHCR winterization programme stands at 57 per cent released for distribution, 16 per cent of items in stock and 36 per cent in the pipeline in refugee-hosting countries.
