As members will recall, the AAP log frame for the RRP 2022-23 was developed by the AAP Task Team on the basis of the theory of change. One of the indicators in the logframe was “# of feedback/complaints received which have been responded to within the appropriate timeframe”, to be tracked on a quarterly basis. It is proposed to track this through Activity Info, which has been used for partners to report on a similar indicator “# of feedback and complaints addressed through effective feedback mechanisms” under the 2019-21 RRP. Before we enter 2022, it would be useful to agree on the timeframes that will be used for reporting under the indicator, to allow for smooth and consistent reporting from the start of 2022.

As a basis for discussion, the categorization of feedback / complaints under the FRRM helpline and timeframes were introduced, which could also be considered for feedback and response channels more broadly (going beyond the FRRM helpline). It was reiterated that the timeframes were for initiation of follow-up and initial feedback to the caller, and not for resolution of the issues / concerns raised.

Overall, members were generally in agreement to maintain the categories of feedback / complaints and the timeframe for initial response, however it was recommended to have further discussion with the participation of the FRRM team on the timeframe of response taking into consideration the challenges that focal points face in the process and how they are addressed.

There is also need for further reflection on the application of the indicator to mechanisms for feedback and response beyond the interagency FRRM.
