June 2022

Costa Rica is host to asylum seekers primarily from Latin America and the Caribbean, and a transit point for others. The last five years the country has experienced an upward trend in the number of asylum applications received because of political unrest and violence in the region. Up to January 2022, the refugee and asylum seeker population reached 172,687. Among the asylum seekers, 90% were Nicaraguans, 4% Venezuelans, 2% Cubans. Until January 2022, the number of recognized refugees was 10,391.

To address the significant gaps faced by the most vulnerable asylum seekers and refugees in meeting their basic needs, a multipurpose cash assistance (MPCA) Basic Needs Program is managed by UNHCR under direct implementation.

Costa Rica is in the process of easing its restrictive measures due to the pandemic, therefore, the operation decided to resume on-site deliveries at the Operations office in San Jose and the Field Office in Upala.

ASSISTANCE DELIVERY:

- Beneficiaries are identified during the Registration process through a socioeconomic evaluation.
- Those who qualify for MPCA receive three months of assistance.
- The selection criterion is the same for all the country and the amount is calculated based on the family size.
- The transfer value is different in the GAM than in the North.

CASH-BASED INTERVENTION (CBI) ACTIVITIES IN 2022

- The Regional Bureau's CBI and Data, Identity Management and Analysis Unit (DIMA) teams have united under a four-country pilot to create a regional needs assessment survey and a targeting toolkit that can be customized for country context and type of assistance provided. The objective is to build a regional assessment that looks at multi-sectoral vulnerabilities. The Costa Rica operation was chosen for the first pilot. An eligibility and target workshop was held, gathering expert consultation for conjoint analysis on prioritized indicators.

- In line with the global cash policy for the use of CBI as a preferred modality to deliver assistance, the CBI unit is leading a financial service providers market study with the support of the Supply unit to look for alternatives of cash transfers and withdrawals, according to UNHCR programs' needs, with the purpose of monetizing assistances provided.
- During the first semester of 2022, CBI and Livelihoods units have been undergoing an external evaluation of the basic needs and livelihoods programs. The purpose is to evaluate the strategic relevance and contribution of both programs to the regional and national objectives during the 2019-2021 period, while providing evidence of UNHCR's efficiency throughout the implementation.

BASIC NEEDS PROGRAM

As of June 30, 1,106 family groups, representing 2,840 individuals, have received assistance for a total of USD 947,307.03. Most beneficiaries are from Nicaragua (84%), 73% are female and 27% male. Fifty percent of the individuals benefited are minors. Average age of beneficiaries is 21.5.

The average household size of HHs benefited this year is 2.4. In 71% of the households, the head of household is a woman.

64% of assistances took place in UNHCR offices. The remaining percent was delivered through Correos de Costa Rica for PoC living in the northern zone, persons with disabilities or families with children without care options.

In coordination with the Livelihoods Unit, the CBI Unit assisted in the delivery of Seed Capital. All the beneficiaries of the Basic Needs program are referred to the Livelihoods program to improve the possibilities for them to achieve economic integration.

The CBI Unit is currently working in the post-delivery monitoring, a regional tool that allows the operation to identify improvement areas for the program and keep in contact with the beneficiaries.
