

The Government of Poland leads the refugee response, complemented by humanitarian organizations. The Refugee Response Plan (RRP) outlines inter-agency plans and financial requirements and is coordinated by the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR).

The Poland chapter of the 2025-2026 RRP brings together 77 partners, with approximately 80% being Polish grassroots and refugee-led organizations. It seeks to secure USD $392 million in international funding over the two-year period for initiatives promoting refugee protection and inclusion, with a focus on the most vulnerable. The plan envisions activities benefiting up to 970,000 Ukrainian refugees in Poland as well as local Polish communities by the end of 2026¹.

The RRP complements Ukraine's 2025 Humanitarian Needs and Response Plan (HNRP), which seeks USD $2.63 billion in international support for humanitarian programs for internally displaced and conflict-affected persons remaining in Ukraine. Ukrainian refugee households in Poland remain vulnerable due to their age and gender characteristics, with over 80% comprising women (37%), children (39%), and older individuals (7%). Furthermore, minority groups, such as Roma refugees, may encounter similar challenges, often compounded by stigma². Many households have members experiencing chronic illnesses, psychosocial trauma, and employment challenges, along with other unmet needs. Efforts to enhance safety and child protection continue, with ongoing improvements in addressing gender-based violence. Meanwhile, initiatives are being developed to make state healthcare services more accessible, simplifying appointment processes and overcoming language barriers, while also ensuring inclusive education for all³. In response, RRP partners prioritize support for vulnerable refugees, foster social cohesion, and work closely with state authorities, civil society, and the private sector to align interventions and build resilience and inclusion. Central to the RRP is investing in human capital and capacity-building among Ukrainian refugees—a strategy that will benefit both Poland and Ukraine when conditions allow for voluntary return. The success of the 2025-2026 RRP depends on timely funding and empowering organizations to build on the concrete achievements of 2024.
