Contextual Background

Historical background	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> At the onset of the emergency in South Sudan (in mid-December 2013), refugees began arriving at Ethiopian border entry points (mainly Pagak, Akobo, and Burbiey). They were then relocated to established camps, such as Kule Camp – currently the largest refugee camp in Ethiopia.
Areas of Origin	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The population mainly comprises refugees from South Sudan’s Upper Nile, Jonglei and Unity states.
Cultural Background	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The refugees are predominantly ethnic Nuer.
Main Occupations	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Primarily farmers and pastoralists.

Administrative Structure

- UNHCR provides Coordination Support, Protection, Community Services, Registration, Logistics, Technical Expertise and monitors the delivery of services.
- Camp Management and the implementation of Primary Healthcare and Education, distribution of Food and Core Relief Items, Shelter Demarcation and Provision and Refugee Screening/Registration is provided by Ethiopia’s governmental body, the Administration for Refugee and Returnee Affairs (ARRA) with support from UNHCR.
- UN agencies (WFP, UNICEF, UNFPA, OCHA, IOM, WHO) and partners, such as NRC, DRC, IMC, Save the Children, IRC, GOAL, ICRC, MSF-H, and MSF-F work together with ARRA and UNHCR in the provision of various essential services. (See the detailed 3W on page 2.)
- Camp Coordination Meetings are co-chaired weekly by ARRA and UNHCR. Meetings are conveyed every Tuesday at 11am.

Operations and Services

- Following refugee screening and elementary refugee registration (Level 1 registration) at Ethiopia’s refugee entry points, a more detailed registration process (Level 2 registration, which includes biometric data) is conducted in the camp.
- Refugees are individually registered in UNHCR’s proGres database, have their finger prints recorded and photos captured to avoid double registration and are provided with food ration cards. Ration card numbers and household registration numbers are used for identification, distributions and for referrals between partners.
- Currently three different types of shelters are present in the camp: a) Emergency shelters (5000+) made out of tarpaulin sheets and wooden support poles with a short life span; b) UNHCR tents (1660+) provide shelter to larger families and have a life-span of 8 months; and c) thatched shelters, known as tukuls (660 completed), have been identified as the most durable and cost-efficient shelter option, although constructing them is a labour-intensive and time-consuming process.
- Kule Camp currently has 24 water points installed throughout the camp. Indicated furthest walking distance to a water points is 260 meters at present. Water provision is currently 8.4 Liters per person per day. NRC has constructed more than 273 communal latrines and 223 family latrines. MSF has constructed another 176 latrines, bringing the latrine-refugee ratio to 1:76.
- Food distribution in Kule Camp is implemented by ARRA and as of July 1, 2014 provided to refugees during the first two weeks of every month. Per person, per month, the following WFP food basket is provided: 16 kg of wheat, 1.5 kg of Corn Soy Blend, 1.5 kg of pulses, 0.9 kg of oil, 0.45 kg of sugar, and 0.15 kg of salt. Preliminary findings from the Kule Nutrition Survey and SAM 10% and GAM 30.3%.
- The following core relief items are provided in Kule: sleeping mats, blankets, jerry cans, kitchen sets, buckets, soap, hygiene kits, and mosquito nets.
