Urgent actions for children in 2016

- In 2016, an estimated 2.4 million people, including 1.2 million children, will be in need of humanitarian assistance.
- Over 900,000 people remain displaced either internally or in neighboring countries.
- Thousands of children who remain associated with armed forces and groups need to be released and reintegrated into their communities.
- Rising food insecurity will lead to an increased proportion of the population in emergency or crisis levels of food insecurity, as well as a higher proportion of children with acute malnutrition: an estimated 39,000 children under 5 years will suffer from severe acute malnutrition (SAM).
- In 2016, UNICEF CAR will need US $55.6 million dollars to provide critical life-saving services to internally displaced and conflict-affected people.
