Highlights

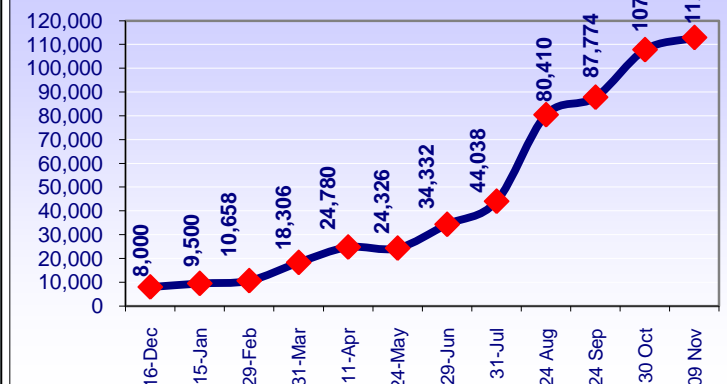

- On November 9, 2012, the Government of Turkey reported that the official number of Syrians registered and accommodated in 14 camps established in seven provinces increased to 112,883 persons including 723 who are undertaking medical treatment in the hospitals. According to the official figures since the beginning of the crisis (April 2011) about 159,000 Syrians arrived in Turkey and about 46,000 of them have returned to Syria voluntarily.
- Reportedly, during the 24 hrs of 07-09 November, 837 Syrians have arrived to Turkey and 212 Syrians have returned to Syria voluntarily. Some of the camps' authorities informed UNHCR that they continued to receive spontaneous new arrivals.
- Reportedly, due to recent clashes in Ras-Al-Ayn border town across Ceylanpinar border gate, the total number of new arrivals crossed to Turkey is estimated to be about eight-nine thousand. According to the local authorities, the Regional Representative of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, the vast majority of the new arrivals are hosted by their relatives in various towns, like Ceylanpinar, Akçakale, Viranşehir, Kızıltepe, etc. while some more than 1,000 have been registered and accommodated in the Ceylanpinar camp. Reportedly, the authorities are trying to locate these new arrivals and those who want to go to the camps will be referred to camps.
- UNHCR has been in close contact with the local authorities and reportedly the situation has started to calm down and no heavy fighting is heard any longer. The local authorities informed UNHCR Field Team that during the last few hours some more than 400 people have returned voluntarily. UNHCR is closely following the situation with the local officials for the update.
