So far in 2017, over 60,000 Syrian refugees in the 3RP countries have received or are receiving services related to the prevention and response to sexual and gender-based violence (SGBV). Furthermore, more than 21,000 individuals have been trained on protection including child protection and SGBV services.

In Jordan, the Annual report on SGBV for 2016 was released which highlighted the improved access to self-reliance opportunities for individuals at risk of SGBV and survivors. The need for improved access to services for those who live in isolation or marginalized situations was also highlighted. Moreover, it emphasized the need to further strengthen the referral component by working more closely with actors providing outreach, screening and awareness raising as well as health, legal, psychological support, safety/security and livelihood component, and to ensure community-based complaint and referral mechanism are in place and functioning well.

In Iraq, Protection partners made significant progress in building the capacity of mobile teams of the Directorate of Combating Violence Against Women covering refugee and IDP camps as well as urban locations in the Kurdistan Region of Iraq. Partners developed an inter-agency plan for addressing prevention of sexual exploitation and abuse in refugee settings in Iraq.

During 2017, food sector partners have reached approximately 2.66 million individuals with food assistance through cash, voucher or in kind modality. 3,200 have individuals received food and agricultural livelihoods support while 7,700 individuals have been supported for improved nutritional practices.

In May, Food Sector partners in Egypt supported 74,232 vulnerable refugees through monthly cash based transfer (CBT) entitlements. In Iraq, the Joint Vulnerability Assessment (JVA) is due to begin by the end of July 2017 and will cover refugees inside and outside the camps. The results of this survey will produce a set of targeting indicators, which will further enable a needs-based refinement of the current caseload. In Jordan 3RP partners distributed food parcels through several community based organisations in Mafraq, Irbid and Aqaba to 1,214 vulnerable households from the refugee and host community.

As at the end of May, some 900,600 Syrian children across the region are enrolled in formal education in schools located in camps and host communities. Additionally, around 51,200 Syrian children are enrolled in informal education.

In Turkey, organization for the open high school examination for Syrian refugees has commenced. Those who pass the examination will be awarded an internationally accepted certification that will allow them to advance to higher education institutions in Turkey and abroad. So far up to 6,000 Syrian students have registered for the exam. For the academic year 2016-2017 Turkey implemented the largest DAFI scholarship program in the world with a total of 814 refugee youth awarded full scholarships. Over 18,600 Syrian volunteer teachers successfully passed their training and are now qualified to teach Syrian children in temporary education centers. In Lebanon, the nationwide back to school (BTS) campaign has begun in order to plan for activities to be implemented in the preparation for the upcoming school year. While in Jordan preparations are ongoing for the start of summer school to accommodate the 3,593 refugee children who enrolled late in the previous academic year.

By the end of May, over 1 million primary health care consultations were provided, representing over 27 per cent of the 2017 overall target, and over 73,000 were referred to secondary or tertiary health care. Furthermore, 343,000 children have been immunized and 17,800 health care staff have been trained.

With the approach of the summer season in Iraq, there is a need to strengthen the control of communicable and waterborne diseases with the collaboration of relevant partners. In order to prevent the outbreaks of diseases such as cholera, health awareness campaigns on means of preventions are required. In Lebanon, 3RP partners continued their outreach and community mobilization and awareness activities through public events to promote appropriate infant and young child feeding practices and care among Syrian refugees and host communities. In Turkey, Health Sector partners conducted a second round of a nationwide immunization campaign targeting Syrian refugees under the age of five years to protect against influenza, hepatitis B and tetanus. In Jordan, Health and Nutrition Sector partners supported paediatricians in Azraq hospital and clinics to provide approximately 6,000 paediatric consultations, in addition to the distribution of 150 new born kits in Za'atari and Azraq camps.

The basic needs sector aims to strengthen the capacities and resilience of local governance through development of simplified service delivery standards, provision of required equipment and skills development. Until May, 170,000 households have received core relief items in kind, which is just over 63 per cent of the targeted population. Approximately 294,000 households have received unconditional, sector specific or emergency cash assistance and over 203,000 households received seasonal support through cash or in-kind assistance.

In Jordan, 3RP partners continue to provide, through the CCG (Child Cash Grants) programme, a grant of approximately USD 28 per child per month to vulnerable families to assist them in covering the costs of their children's basic needs and prevent reliance on negative coping strategies such as child labour and early marriage. In Turkey the Comprehensive Vulnerability Mapping exercise (CVME) began in May to map vulnerabilities across the refugee population in Turkey. Over 600,000 vulnerable refugees received multipurpose cash assistance through the Emergency Social Safety Net (ESSN), and a further 300,000 applications to ESSN have been received throughout the month of May, with 37 per cent being found eligible for ESSN support. The ESSN project aims to reach more than 1,000,000 people in 2017

3RP partners' priority regarding the Shelter Sector continues to be the provision of adequate, affordable and sustainable housing options for refugees living in host communities. For refugees in camps, 3RP partners focus on rehabilitation efforts to improve the infrastructure of the camp and upgrade shelters in order to contribute to sustainable living. During 2017, 8,892 households in camps have received assistance for shelter and shelter upgrades, while outside of camps 12,843 households received assistance for shelter and shelter upgrades.

In Iraq, where over 38 per cent of the refugee population is living in nine camps, in these camps improvements have been made to more than 96 per cent of the shelter units. In Jordan, the Quantitative Shelter Survey finished on May 1. A total of 1,782 households were surveyed across the five stratified groups of districts in Zaatari camp. The results revealed that: 23 per cent of households have relocated at least once within Za'atari; 81 per cent have carried out shelter repairs themselves; 90 per cent have had rainwater leak inside their shelters; and 30 per cent have been flooded.

So far in 2017, over 980,827 have benefited from access to adequate quantity of safe water through improved longer-term water systems. Approximately 290,000 people have gained access to appropriate sanitation facilities and services, and over 466,000 people have access to adequate quantity of safe water through temporary provision.

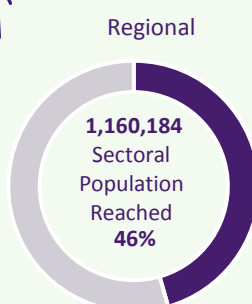

In Jordan, 45 kilometres of pipeline have been installed for the Za'atari camp water network and the foundation of two wastewater pumping stations completed. In Azraq camp, the new water network and borehole were commissioned. This will help triple the number of tap stands with water being pumped directly from the boreholes to the new reservoirs, eliminating the need for water tankering. In Lebanon, 3RP partners initiated a solid waste management programme. This aims to address increased solid waste and garbage disposal on the roads which can result in tensions between refugees and host communities, such as in Chhim where 31.5 tons of waste is generated on a daily basis.

Since the start of 2017, Livelihoods Partners assisted 15,495 refugees and host community members with short-term and/or long-term employment opportunities and 36,247 youth and adults in increasing their employability through job training, internships, job placement and language courses. In addition, 18,747 host community members and the refugees have participated in community based activities to promote social cohesion.

"A Business and Employment Forum" took place in Gaziantep, Turkey in May 2017, bringing together more than 700 participants including Syrians, host community members, entrepreneurs and businesses (including 35 local, national and international companies), NGOs, government and social enterprises, for increased engagement of the private sector in Syria crisis response in terms of livelihoods generation and job creation. The discussions throughout the two-day Forum underlined the importance of public-private partnerships in expanding job opportunities and strengthening livelihoods options through a comprehensive programme composed of different components, such as The Business Marketplace, Sessions for Jobseekers, Sessions for Employers and Entrepreneurs, and General Sessions.
