"I have loved wood since I was a child. I was 5 or 6 years old when I carved my first wooden horse. Since then, I have been giving shape and form to pieces of beech and walnut. But for me, it is not just a job. As I carve wood, I feel creative and free. In Crete, I work again as a carpenter and I am very happy about it".

Mehdi and his wife Roghaya, fled Afghanistan in search of safety. Together with their two sons, they made a fresh start in Heraklion, Crete, where they live in an apartment rented as part of the EU co-funded ESTIA programme. Mehdi has been working in a carpentry shop just outside the city, while twice a week the couple attends Greek lessons.

Overview

By the end of November 2020, 13,492 places were under UNHCR and 15,391 places were under the Ministry of Migration and Asylum of Greece, in the context of the agreed gradual transition of the totality of the programme to the Greek authorities. In total, 28,883 places were created as part of the programme. These were in 4,584 apartments and 20 buildings, in 15 cities and 7 islands across Greece.

The Accommodation Scheme¹ provides rented housing to vulnerable asylum-seekers and refugees in Greece. Urban accommodation helps restore a sense of normalcy and provides better access to services, including education and health. People are additionally supported by social workers and interpreters who help them access medical services, employment, language courses and recreational activities.

¹The scheme also facilitates the eventual integration of those who will remain in Greece, while the host population benefits from the renting of their apartments. UNHCR works with NGOs as well as several municipalities around Greece to provide rented accommodation in apartments and buildings. The accommodation scheme commenced in November 2015.

²The occupancy rate is calculated as the percentage of current population over actual capacity.

"I reached Greece in 2015, through Lesvos island. It took me years of hardships and efforts, until in 2018 I finally managed to apply for asylum. When I came to Thessaloniki, UNHCR referred me to INTERSOS, who helped me live in an apartment. This is how I started my life here. My counselor in INTERSOS also helped me write my CV and prepare for interviews. She helped me find a job! Now I work in a construction company and I am finally happy. I feel complete again!"

Zulfiqar, 36, an asylum-seeker from Pakistan, lives in one INTERSOS Hellas apartment in Thessaloniki rented as part of the ESTIA Programme. He studies as an electrician, and since summer he has a full-time job as an electrician at a construction company.
