Project aims at improving the support to young people towards intergation process

General Objective

To improve the support to young third-country nationals aged 18-21 by strengthening the presence of volunteer citizens (individual or groups) that accompany them in their integration process through mentoring programmes

Project actions have a direct impact on:

- Education
- labour market
- access to vocational training
- access to basic services
- active participation
- social inclusion of young migrant people.

Project specific objectives

- Contribute to the integration of young third-country nationals by building support and capacities of volunteer citizens acting as mentors at local level.
- Promote and foster exchanges between young third-country nationals, volunteer citizens and the hosting local community.
- Build and consolidate cooperation among all the actors involved in intergration of young
- Reinforce and promote European good practices based on active citizenship, including mentoring

Actions

- training courses for mentors and local students
- organizing sport, cultural and other educational activities and events that promote exchange
- meetings and exchanges events with local organizations support young
- seminars and events to share results and raise awareness in EU level

Reason behind the Re_Generations

ARSIS, ASSOCIATION FOR THE SOCIAL SUPPORT OF YOUTH

Once unaccompanied children turn 18, they no longer are eligible for several protection benefits and services. Losing the right of having a representative or a legal guardian they immediately experience an abrupt loss of guidance which affect dramatically the migrant child's regular stay in the country (e.g. his/her appropriate accommodation, his/her access to medical and psychosocial assistance, his/her continuation of education or vocational training, and access in the labor market).

Act as a bridge

Mentoring supports beneficiaries beyond reaching their "typical" adulthood. The mentorship relationship embodies the first months after the mentee turns 18, and/or their possible future relationship after the end of the mentoring contract.
