Situation and Operational Response

SUDAN

Updates by location

In Khartoum, significant refugee movement has been reported although some refugees have been unable to move due to the high cost of transportation. The South Sudanese Embassy provided several trucks for transportation to South Sudan from Khartoum. Based on the information available, this is on a voluntary basis and there is no indication of coercion or duress for refugees to move other than the current situation in Khartoum.

Communicating with communities is being strengthened in coordination with the Khartoum Field Office and the Regional Bureau.

In Gedaref, the Commissioner for Refugees (COR) has agreed for UNHCR international staff and partners to access the refugee camps. Following WFP’s announcement on the resumption of operations in Sudan, UNHCR and WFP plan to start the distribution of in-kind food assistance on 3 May. UNHCR, in collaboration with COR, refugee leadership and partners, conducted sensitization in the camps on 2 May in preparation.

Following reports that approximately 1,500 people comprised of refugees, asylum-seekers and some Sudanese nationals had self-relocated from Khartoum to Um Gulja (a former refugee settlement in the State), UNHCR sent field teams to conduct registration and provide lifesaving assistance, while engaging WFP and NRC to provide food assistance and shelter. In response to reports that another 3,500 individuals have arrived in Medani (Al Jazirah State) in need of assistance, UNHCR will visit Medani to assess their situation.

In Kassala, the security situation is calm. However, partners have reported challenges such as access to cash, shortage of fuel, and a significant surge in prices of goods, which will affect the provision of critical lifesaving activities.

In Blue Nile, COR reported that it received information that some refugees were planning to go to the border areas, citing lack of assistance and food. Partners plan to visit the camp to verify the information.

In the Kordofan states, UNHCR and COR managed to visit the refugee settlement in Kadugli (South Kordofan) where refugees are anxious about food assistance. West Kordofan is presently calm, but fuel is not widely accessible in the market and food is becoming scarce.

In North Darfur, the UNHCR office lost contact with refugees in Al Lait presumably due to power outages.

In South Darfur, sporadic shooting was reported in the area close to the market and airport. Some traders have closed their shops and removed goods to take to their homes due to the insecurity in the market.

In East Darfur, the situation is calm but tense, although the movement of armed men has been observed. All services including health and water continue to be provided in the refugee camps.

SOUTH SUDAN

As of 1 May, a total of 27,275 individual have arrived in South Sudan, including 2,679 refugees from Sudan, 20,932 South Sudanese returnees, and 3,364 third country nationals. A joint RRC-UNHCR-IOM interactive border monitoring dashboard has been established: https://bit.ly/SouthSudanBorderMonitoringDashboard.

Two Refugee Housing Units have been erected for partners Relief International and Save the Children to use for office space/activities. UNHCR mobilized heavy equipment for site clearance and levelling at the Transit Centre.

UNHCR started the distribution of emergency core relief items to populations at the Transit Centre on 26 April. In total, four distributions have been conducted. The distribution consists of blankets, sleeping mats, and buckets. The distribution of mosquito nets is planned.

Protection
Basic general services are ongoing. JRS is providing psychosocial support to vulnerable individuals. Clinical GBV case management is ongoing through UNHCR partner Relief International. General protection monitoring is being organized. UNHCR is doing protection mainstreaming across all the sectors, with particular focus at the Reception Centre where Persons with Specific Needs (PSNs) are identified and documented. A protection desk has been set up at the Transit Centre where protection concerns are currently documented, registered, and referred to relevant partners.

Child Protection
UNHCR implementing partners are providing child protection services through case identification, documentation, and referral. LWF are also actively conducting community engagement activities and providing psychosocial support to vulnerable children. Play items have been delivered to the site and child-friendly spaces were completed on 2 May.

CHAD
UNHCR and the National Commission for the Reception and Reintegration of Refugees and Returnees (CNARR) monitoring missions estimate that 30,000 refugees fleeing violence have arrived in Chad since the beginning of the crisis in the provinces of Ouaddai, Sila, and Wadi Fira. New arrivals continue to be reported daily.

Between 29-30 April, 3,700 new arrivals were observed in the provinces of Sila and Ouaddai and 221 refugees in Tiné in Wadi Fira province. According to reports from refugees in Tiné, a significant number of families are on the way to Chad.
A total of 22,286 refugees have so far been verified and physically counted, as UNHCR continues the verification and pre-registration exercise. In addition, at the Hille-Hissein site, 1,982 Chadian returnees (400 households) were identified.

Key results (as of 1 May)
- 22,286 refugees received protection services.
- 6,410 refugees received Core Relief Items (UNHCR, UNICEF).
- 10,000 refugees have access to clean water through IRC and LMI (UNHCR partners), CARE, UNICEF interventions, in Koufroun and Midjiguilta sites (Ouaddai Province).

Protection Monitoring
Protection monitoring (P21) was launched by UNHCR, data was collected in the villages of Hayal Salam, Koufroun, Labane Dafak, Dizé Berté, Midjiguilta and Goungour, in Ouaddai province.

As of 30 April, 254 households had been interviewed, of which 91% said they had not encountered any difficulties in accessing the country of asylum. Although most households interviewed (85%) said they had not faced any protection threats since arriving in Chad, 11% said they had been physically attacked.

A total of 46% of households interviewed said that family members remained in Sudan and will travel to Chad once the situation allows. 54% of households have children of school age and 79% of them have children who were in school in Sudan. Although 35% of households say they have no documents, 38% have identity cards or other forms of ID and/or voter registration cards, and 21% have birth certificates.

Only 28% of households indicated that they had information on the services available, hence the need for additional information on the types of assistance. 20% of the households interviewed said they did not feel safe away from the community because of the risks of exposure to gender-based violence and 3% of the households said there were risks of GBV for girls and women.

53% of the households said they did not intend to return to Sudan even if the situation improved in the coming months and 88% said they felt integrated into the host community.

CENTRAL AFRICAN REPUBLIC (CAR)

In the Central African Republic, UNHCR estimates that approximately 9,686 individuals (6,230 refugees from Sudan and 3,456 CAR returnees) have crossed the border, where a UNHCR emergency team has been deployed. Registration of the new arrivals will start soon, and relocation assessments are underway to move people away from the border to more secure locations as proposed by the local authorities.

Since 24 April, people arriving from Sudan have been seen in Am Dafock, a small town located on the border between Sudan and CAR. Am Dafock is the main entry point of an otherwise very porous border. The road that connects Birao (Vakaga Prefecture CAR) to Nyala (South Darfur) is an important trade route.

New arrivals comprise Sudanese refugees as well as Central African refugees who have been living in camps in Sudan. As of 30 April, there were 24,000 refugees from CAR in Sudan.

An emergency team comprised of UNHCR, CNR and a few NGOs based in the area, travelled to the border on 29 April to meet new arrivals, start basic registration and address some of the immediate needs.

New arrivals in Am Dafock need protection and assistance, including shelter, food, health services and clean water. UNHCR and partners are preparing an emergency response to provide immediate coordinated response to the most urgent needs in Am Dafock and initial registration in collaboration with the Government authorities. UNHCR is also assessing the needs for relocation to Birao. An interagency mission is scheduled for 3 May.
There are minimal core relief items stock available in the area. UNHCR has stocks for 5,000 persons in Bangui. Logistical challenges will increase with the beginning of the rainy season.

IMC and ICRC, who have a presence in Birao, have supported the health centres, as well as access to water and basic relief items. ICRC donated medicines, two bladders (15,000 liters), and distributed jerrycans and plastic sheeting to those most in need amongst the new arrivals and returnees.

ETHIOPIA

Population movements
As of 2 May, some 8,900 individuals have entered Ethiopia, including 870 refugees from Sudan, 750 Ethiopian returnees and 7,280 third country nationals.

Screening and recording by the Refugees and Returnees Service (RRS) and UNHCR is underway at the crossing points, including the identification of Ethiopian returnees, people with urgent medical needs and those with advanced resettlement processes.

Health response in Metema
The Ethiopian Public Health Institute (EPHI) has continued to provide emergency health care services to refugees and asylum-seekers at the Metema border. The Ethiopian Ministry of Health (MoH) is supporting the effort by deploying a team of 10 medical professionals and emergency medical kits.

A working space has been established in the compound of the Immigration and Border Service, with doctors, nurses, and a mental health expert attending to emergency medical cases. An ambulance is available to transport urgent medical cases to Gondar.

UNHCR is working with RRS and immigration officials to facilitate entry visas to enable them to proceed to Gondar or Addis Ababa.

Food and water response in Metema
UNHCR continues to provide food and water to the 13 Eritreans temporarily sheltered at the Kurmuk border pending their eventual transfer to a reception center. While the local authorities have arranged for their temporary accommodation, UNHCR provided some core relief items, including sleeping mats and blankets.

The Ethiopian Red Cross Society (ERCS) continues to distribute High Energy Biscuits (HEB), water and sleeping mats to refugees, asylum seekers and Ethiopian returnees in Metema. ERCS has placed two water tanks next to the UNHCR/IOM registration centre and is also managing handwashing facilities. IOM is maintaining an existing water point to enhance access to running water.

Status of border and access to border areas
23 refugees including two holding refugee IDs, were held in detention in Metema for “irregularly” moving away from the border. Following advocacy by RRS, UNHCR, and OHCHR, they were all released on 30 April.

Both Kurmuk and Metema crossing points remain open.

Contingency planning and preparedness
In Metema, to decongest the border crossing point, IOM has installed a rub hall to accommodate new arrivals temporarily. However, the rub hall, which is located within the police station, is yet to have the necessary amenities, notably a water system, while existing latrines need some repair.

In Kurmuk, on 29 April, UNHCR jointly with RRS, other UN agencies, and implementing partners, visited two sites allocated by the local administration to be developed into reception and accommodation centers.
UNHCR is leading interagency coordination in collaboration with the Government of Egypt. Initial estimates of arrivals from Sudan have been revised upwards by the Government to 40,000 Sudanese refugees and 2,000 third country nationals from 50 countries as of 2 May.

Since 28 April, an inter-agency UN team based in Aswan and Abu Simbel, comprising of UNHCR, UNICEF, IOM, WFP, WHO and the Resident Coordinator’s Office, has been delivering first-response assistance through the Egyptian Red Crescent (ERC).

Aid procured and currently being delivered includes water, hygiene and sanitary kits, wheelchairs, food and masks and gloves. The team has also worked to prepare the ground for a presence on the border with reinforced transport capacity.

UNHCR protection teams in Aswan and Abu Simbel have collected information on the needs and profiles of arriving Sudanese, to form the basis of UNHCR’s registration and community-based protection response. Initial information gathered indicates that most new arrivals do not have the intention to return to Sudan and that arrivals anticipate the situation to deteriorate further.

It is planned that a UN team will travel to Argeen and Qustul, the two official border crossings, to assess the humanitarian situation and determine modalities for the provision of assistance. All the required formalities are currently being undertaken by the government for the UN mission to go ahead. No time frame can be confirmed at this point but it is expected soon.

The need for cash has been highlighted and is recommended to be used as a response modality across sectors, including for transport, and to the extent the market allows.

The influx and needs at the Sudanese-Egyptian borders are rapidly increasing by the day with significant delays reported at the two border points in the processing of the new arrivals. Major humanitarian concerns are noted both in the area between the Egyptian and Sudanese borders (“no man’s land”) and on the Sudanese side. The Egyptian authorities reaffirm that the border with Sudan is and will remain open. However, the UN and partners have identified delays at the border as a major concern.

The UN is prepared to work with the Government of Egypt to enhance border management and contribute to its overall refugee response in the context of the Global Compact on Refugees.
