Uganda Refugee Response Plan (RRP) 2022-2023

January - December 2023

OVERVIEW

The sector aims at comprehensive settlement planning to create a conducive environment for socioeconomic transformation and resilience of Persons of Concern in all refugee settlements and hosting communities. This is done through preparation and implementation of suitable settlement masterplans in which refugees are given land for shelter & farming. roads are constructed, reception facilities are upgraded, and other settlement infrastructure is built or enhanced, including schools, health centres, community centres and other common facilities. Temporary & semi-permanent infrastructure in refugee settlements and reception facilities continue to be upgraded to permanent infrastructure, all construction, upgrade, and rehabilitation works are done under direct implementation using the project management approach to ensure quality control and value for money. All sectoral activities are done within the provisions and standards of the government of Uganda through the engagement with line ministries. The sector is also responsible for the preparation and update of the shelter strategy in consultation with OPM and line ministries. The current strategy allows refugees to build their own shelters and blend with the community by upgrading their shelters over time to the existing typologies in the host communities. The sector advocates and ensures refugees get hands-on training, experience and skills development in building and construction; the skilled refugees support new arrivals and old caseloads in setting up new shelters and upgrading of the existing household shelters using sustainable materials thus protecting the environment. Over the years refugees have participated in construction projects whereby the ratio of refugee's labor to nationals is normally 50:50. Persons with Specific Needs (PSNs) are supported with shelter materials by UNHCR and partners. UNHCR also provided support in terms of shelter material or cash for shelter in the occurrence of nature disasters i.e., in case of heavy winds, floods, etc. The sector participates in determination of the shelter kit, which is part of the Non-Food Items (NFIs) that are distributed to new arrivals upon plot allocation. A key objective for the sector is to ensure that shelter options blend with host communities, as such it continues to push for the implementation of a revised shelter strategy that considers more environmentally sustainable, culturally sensitive, and flexible designs. In addition, a key approach throughout the settlements is the continued establishment of settlement planning guidelines following the Master Plan approach, which aims to improve site planning and contribute to land use optimisation. Based on Uganda's flexible Refugee Policy, registered refugees enjoy unrestricted movement to and from settlements. Subsequently, the sector conducts periodic verification of available plots of land within refugee settlements to establish an inventory of vacant plots suitable for accommodating new caseloads. The intended outcome is to ensure the minimum standards of shelter for all refugees are met.
