Background

Mae La Oon was officially established in March 2004, following a relocation exercise from other sites which commenced in 2003. The population is largely comprised of people moved from Mae Khong Kha camp, which was severely affected by flash floods in September 2002.

Mae La Oon and Mae Ra Ma Luang are the most remote of all nine camps along the Thai-Myanmar border.

Location

Mae La Oon camp is in Sob Moei District, Mae Hong Son Province, approximately 3 km. from the Thai-Myanmar border and 83 km. from Mae Sariang. It has a surface area of 316 acres (1.28 sq.km.).

Governance

The Ministry of Interior (MOI) is responsible for administration in nine camps. Mae La Oon Camp Commander is the Deputy District Officer of Sob Moei District. A refugee Camp Committee is directly involved in camp governance, and received support from the Karen Refugee Committee.

A Thai Ranger Unit is stationed near the camp to monitor security. Territory Defense Volunteers, known as Or Sors, are employed and trained by the MOI to provide internal camp security.

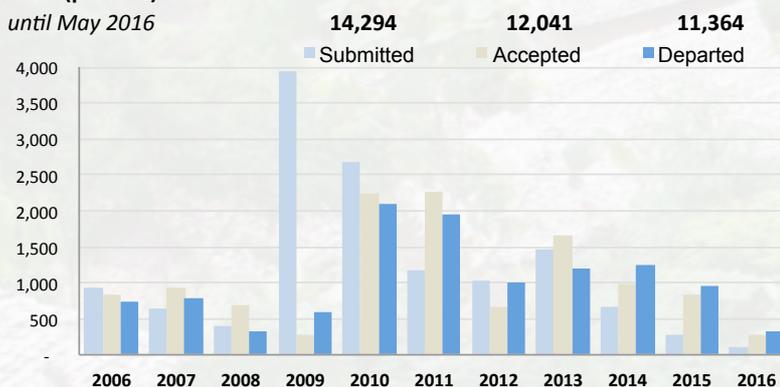

UNHCR Activities

- Work towards the elimination of sexual and gender-based violence and improve the quality of response.

Access to Asylum

Thailand is not a signatory to the 1951 Refugee Convention and its 1967 Protocol and does not have legislation regulating the status of refugees. In accordance with MOI regulations, admission to the camps and access to asylum in Thailand is the responsibility of the Provincial Admission Boards (PAB); Mae La Oon falls under the jurisdiction of the Mae Hong Son PAB.

With UNHCR support in 2012, RTG started conducting a "Fast Track" procedure that provides access to the PAB to the unregistered camp residents in the nine temporary shelters if they are immediate family members of those who were already resettled and/or of the registered camp residents who are in process of resettlement. There have also been submissions for persons with protection and medical concerns. This is not a general registration PAB exercise and the conditions are strict.
