25. Ah Nauk Ywe Village

Population: approx. 2,500 inhabitants

Highlights Reportedly, there are still tensions between villagers and IDPs from ANY Camp over the use of water sources, fishing activities and firewood collection. Allegedly, villagers from ANY have also frictions with villagers from Sin Ain village as a result of past insecurity incidents. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Other update on activities and issues WASH: Due to the lack of latrines in the village, open defecation in nearby fields is common, however, the community feel afraid to go to those fields at night due to the presence of snakes and wild animals. It was reported that latrines for each HH are being constructed by an INGO but the villagers are concerned about the quality of such latrines. HEALTH: There is not a health center in the village. There are irregular one-day visits by a mobile clinic from the Ministry of Health. According to the villagers, it is very hard for them to have medical services and when the mobile clinic goes to ANY, most of the IDPs go to see the doctor so most of the villagers do not have an opportunity to see the doctor or any medical staff from the mobile clinic. In view of the circumstances, villagers who have means of transport or financial means to pay for it, seek medical treatment in Thaechaung village or Sittwe township. Follow up on former issues	Follow up, challenges and advocacy

26. Sin Aing Village

Population: no updated information

Highlights Security: Reportedly, villagers are still afraid to go farming to nearby fields due to insecurity incidents involving Muslims and Rakhine in 2012 and December 2013. According to the villagers, Muslim community members have been seen collecting firewood and fishing in areas close to the village. Other update on activities and issues <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • WASH: the village lacks latrines so as a result, open defecation in nearby fields is common. The villagers reported to being afraid of snakes and other wild animals when going to the fields at night. Water is usually fetched from ponds but in the dry season water sources are limited. • HEALTH: there is not any health center in the village, however, a mobile clinic from the Ministry of Health goes to the village once or twice a month. As a result of the lack of health services, the villagers usually take traditional medicines prescribed by the elderly. For emergencies, they go to Sittwe Hospital but this can only be afforded by those who have financial means to pay for the boat charges. • EDUCATION: there is an elementary school in the village with 206 students and 10 teachers. The villagers ask for support for the construction of proper school facilities for the large number of students and more classes (grade 7 and above). • FOOD: Reportedly, food rations were provided by MRF to all households. These were usually transported by the villagers from Sittwe to the village, so each household had to pay 2000 Kyats for transport. No food rations have been distributed in the recent months. • PROTECTION: Reportedly, during the dry season water sources are quite limited in the village. As a result, the women have to fetch water from a nearby village – Baw Taw Li (30 minutes away) and, in order to get to the village, they have to walk through STM IDP Camp. The villagers indicated to be afraid of the Muslims who live in nearby villages or areas. Follow up on former issues <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • NTR 	Follow up, challenges and advocacy <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Protection Team continues to follow up on possible tensions in the area and concerns by the villagers as a result of the tensions (i.e. limited freedom of movement, threats, etc).
