

Save-Syria February Medical Mission

Information sheet

Background

Mission statement of the organization: (UMR) is a registered 501 © (3) non-profit organization and considered one of the fastest growing NGO's in the United States, with a focus on building humanitarian coalitions to tackle developmental needs.

(UMR) was first launched by a group of students at George Mason University in Fairfax, Virginia who wanted to do something to help the victims of the Haitian earthquake. It has now become a respected humanitarian player with an emphasis on providing health care solutions to understand communities. UMR's moto "better together" bares testament to our belief that we must unite our resources and expertise to empower those most in need and help them attain dignity through giving them the opportunity to lift themselves out of poverty.

Upcoming Mission (17 -21 February 2019)

One of UMR's health care projects is Save-Syria Medical Missions. UMR with the partner IMR agreed to run free missions every couple of months to provide primary health consultations for patients at underserved communities in Jordan and to increase the accessibility of vulnerable patients in Jordan to health services.

UMR is getting ready to launch the first medical mission in 2019 for free for mainly Syrian refugee, host communities and Iraqis as well.
